

Asset Protection Offshore!

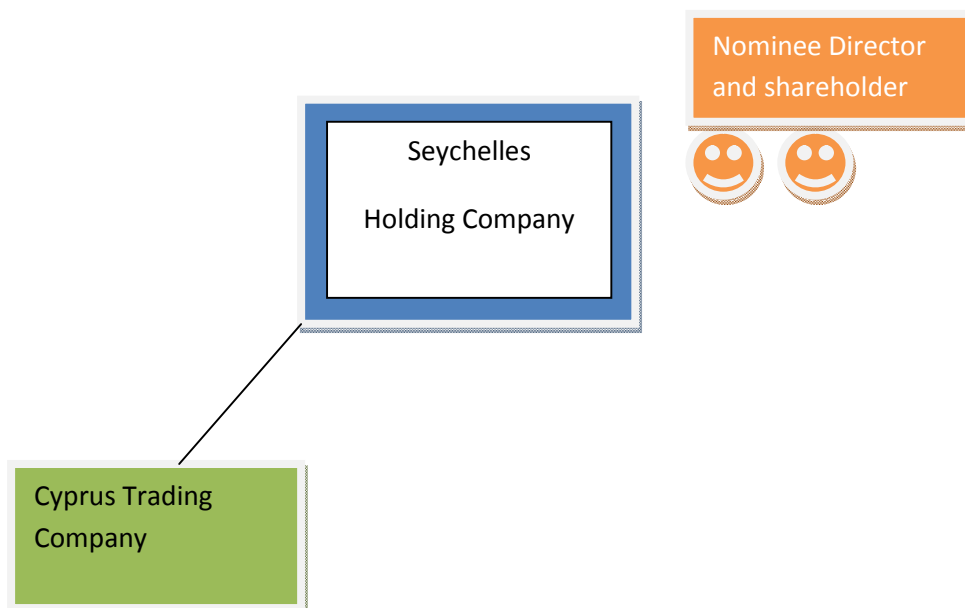

How you can achieve a good and stable asset and equity protection by forming a Offshore Company in the Seychelles, Belize, BVI or Cyprus.

What is important to know is to have the right company structure to protect your assets and equity in the case something goes wrong and you will need to rely on the shield you build.

We will not enter into a deep explanation about how to achieve a 100% asset protection with an offshore company, since it is a “hot topic” in the times of an recession, however, basically you just need to register a company, rather a holding company in a offshore jurisdiction which didn't signed any Tax Treaties by now, since those countries a providing the best layer of privacy protection and confidentiality. Some of those countries are the Seychelles and Belize, there are others, now, it is important that the Offshore Holding Company is registered with nominees (nominee director and shareholder) in that way the beneficial owner is protected from any leaking of information to any authority, further it is easier to prove that the company not belongs to you! Forget all the fluff which many local lawyers and auditors scream about in regards to who holds the rights and who can act on behalf of the company, the well established offshore company formation services will never act on behalf of the company without written permission from the client.

Now for the perfect asset protection you will register another company this can be for instant also in the Seychelles or if you do business in Europe we recommend it to be in Cyprus, this company will be used only for trading, all assets and equity which this Cyprus company will have or get in the future will be moved to the Seychelles Offshore company this with legal documents from a lawyer and notary service.

It will look something like in Fig.1

In Fig.1 we have simplified the whole thing a little for a better understanding on how to achieve a good and reliable asset protection through an Offshore Company structure.
